

VECU project and experiences till now at Comenius University in Bratislava.
Report presented by the group from the University of the Third Age.
(PhDr. Nadezda Hrapkova, PhD., coordinator of the project at U3A)

1. Which themes did we choose?
Group of the students included to the project VECU, chose together with the coordinator of the project in Bratislava these themes:
  - Everyday culture which consists of Daily traditions and Eating culture
  - Literature, which contains Proverbs and Creative writing (stories written by seniors)
  - Music, which includes Famous musicians
2. How did we choose them?
We chose the themes according to - the historical traditions of Slovakia
  - the interest of the senior students
  - our own possibilities
3. How did we find the group of young people to cooperate with?
We chose the high school and group of the students by random selection and also according to the contacts of the senior students (many of the seniors are former teachers)
4. What are the interests of the young people in this cooperation?
We don't know yet. We just started cooperation with the director of the school and we gave to the students book of the stories written by seniors. We are going to manage common discussion on the theme Daily traditions.
5. Which method will we use to transfer the values?
  - Discussion : in the group of seniors, in the group of young students, in the mixed group = blended learning
  - Questionnaire (for finding of the proverbs knowledge)
  - Creative writing of the seniors
6. What are our experiences till now with the cooperation with the young people? What were the difficulties, what were surprises? What was successful, what isn't?
We only approached the young students and they got from us the books of essays (stories) for discussion points.
7. How does the intercultural cooperation with the tandem / triple partners develop? What is successful, what isn't?
Bratislava and Vienna together using the same methods in the subjects Music and Proverbs
Bratislava and Wroclaw: Everyday culture by using the same methods
Eating culture (without partners)
8. Which intercultural contacts have taken place.?
We are preparing the summer course for the seniors, to combine it together with a tandem meeting from the project. Till now seniors from Vienna agreed with the participation in August 2009.
